

2017-2018
Research in Progress Seminars
Department Anatomy and Cell Biology

Students, should a conflict arise and you are no longer available to present on the scheduled date, it is your responsibility to switch with another student. Please inform Joelle Denomy-Hasilo as soon as possible with the updated information.

Objectives: It gives the graduate students the opportunity to present their on-going work in an informal setting and provides them with a platform to exchange ideas and discuss science. It is NOT a platform where students are evaluated.

Format: 20min + 10min questions

To increase interest and attendance, presenters should send their title of the work they are going to present to Joelle Denomy-Hasilo for departmental distribution.

This seminar series is compulsory for students and postdocs. Undergraduate students (ANAT 432 and others) are invited to attend. Feel free to invite other professors or students interested in your work, they are all welcome.

The PI's and mentors of the students presenting are highly encouraged to attend the session. Other PIs are also encouraged to attend this seminar series as it is a way to show the students that their contribution to research is valued.

Optional feedback: If the student presenting wishes to receive feedback from his peers and/or professors attending the presentation, they may bring an evaluation form and ask attendees to fill it up. This is only on a voluntary basis.

Responsibilities of the Student Chair

As a RIP chair you will be responsible for the following:

- introducing the presenters (name, lab, degree year, title of presentation, anything else that is relevant)
- Ensuring talks last no longer than 20 min + 10 min questions.
- Mediating the question period (priority should go to students and post-docs over professors)
- Prepare at least one question in case there are none from the audience
