Your Checklist

Before the Career Fair
- Prepare your CV and a cover letter.
- Research companies attending the career fair.
- Prepare your 30 second infomercial to present to each employer.
- Bring a portfolio to carry your CVs.
- Bring your business/student information cards.
- Prepare questions ahead of time that you want to ask and information you would like to acquire from the company representatives.
- Dress the part. First impressions are critical, so dress professionally.

At the Career Fair
- Ensure your cell phone/pager is turned off.
- Stop at the registration table and get a name tag.
- Introduce yourself while giving a firm handshake and maintaining eye contact and good posture. Present your 30 second infomercial.
- Be prepared to answer and ask questions.
- Draw upon your experience. Transferable skills are very important.
- Keep an open mind to all opportunities an organization has to offer.
- Ensure to ask for a business card from the representative.
- After leaving the table, jot some notes down about the company and write thank you letters to the various representatives.

After the Career Fair
- Develop a plan of action to follow up with the companies you liked and write thank you letters to the various representatives.

30 Second Infomercial

Fairs can be daunting especially when you do not know how to approach employers - the key is to be prepared. Here are some recommendations. When you meet a representative at a career fair you should greet them with a firm handshake and a smile. You should begin with a 30 second introductory script that you have prepared and practiced ahead of time.

Sample Script

5 seconds: Personal information, degree, year, major

Hello. My name is Kelly Lewis and I am in my fourth year of a political science degree, with a minor in sociology. I noticed on your website that you have openings for XXX and I am interested in a position in this capacity. Last summer I had an internship with XXX where I was able to participate in XXX. The most interesting project that I worked on was about XXX. I have been following your company's progress in New York and have read various pieces about it in the New York Times. Could you tell me more about the new product you are offering to new employees?

10 seconds: Knowledge of the company

Do your research before the fair so you are knowledgeable about the company. This will also ensure that after your introduction you can ask the employer a captivating question, e.g., "Can you tell me more about the new product you are developing?" Or "Can you give me more details about your management training program?" This will allow you to engage the employer in conversation.

Making a Business Card: Student information card

Education
- Indicate degree(s) followed by majors/minors in brackets.
- Indicate school if desired.

Languages
- Indicate if you are bilingual and note the languages in brackets in order of fluency.

The Do's and Don'ts:
- Do avoid too many abbreviations.
- Don't overcrowd your card.
- Don't print your card on flimsy paper or with perforated edges.
- Do add value to your card by printing in 10 seconds: Accomplishments – work, classroom, activities and organizations

Sample Script

- Indicate if you are bilingual and note the languages in brackets in order of fluency.
- Don't overcrowd your card.
- Don't print your card on flimsy paper or with perforated edges.
- Do add value to your card by printing in bold or a larger text.
- Make sure that it is appropriate for the recipient.
- If you have varying business card versions (with different addresses or information on them), distribute them accordingly.

Address
- If living away from home while at school, you might want to put your permanent address, rather than your temporary.
- In some cases you might want to consider printing two sets of cards with the varying residential information.

Telephone Number
- Highlight your number by putting it in bold or a larger text.
- Ensure you have a voice mail which indicates your name and does not have an unprofessional message which might confuse the employer or give them a negative impression of you.

E-Mail
- Preferably not a hotmail, yahoo, or other free email service account.
- Every student has a McGill e-mail account for life, even after graduation. Such an address also makes you look more professional and are rarely blocked by spam filters.
