

Conversations with Muslims

Tuesday March 21th at 5:30 p.m

Wendy Patrick room (#118 @ Wilson Hall), 3506 University Street

After the tragic events in Quebec City, there was an outpouring of compassion towards the Muslim community. We (a group of Muslims from McGill and beyond supported by friends from many diverse organizations) want to go beyond compassion and promote dialogue. We wish for everyone to know the Muslim next door as a human being, who lives a very similar life to their own.

Come and have small group discussions with Muslims (not Muslim scholars, nor experts), ask questions that you always wanted to and exchange in a safe space.

Space is limited, first come, first served.

Priority for those who RSVP (to audrey.hachey@mail.mcgill.ca) and arrive before 5:15PM. Doors open 5PM. Snacks will be served.
