Certificate in Entrepreneurship

Is a Career in Entrepreneurship for You?

Do you have an idea, a product or a service that you wish to turn into a sustainable venture? Do you want to do something that you love?

Canada has more than 2.5 million small business owners, half of which are women. This generates more than 80,000 jobs a year or about one-quarter of new employment positions. Nearly one in four Canadians states that he/she will be self-employed at some point in the next five years.

The vast majority of entrepreneurs say that starting a business was the best decision that they have ever made. Even at the expense of longer working hours and the entrepreneurs’ responsibility for their own livelihoods, the benefits of more control over their lifestyle and doing something they love far outweigh the other alternatives.

Many individuals start their own business out of a passion to be independent, the love of a challenge or the desire to turn a hobby into a source of income. Few entrepreneurs see a need that is not being met and cannot ignore the opportunity to start their own business. Others are driven by circumstances such as layoffs, frustration with their current workplace culture or the need for a more flexible lifestyle.

If you want a fast paced, dynamic career where you influence the outcome and impact of your venture, then perhaps a career in entrepreneurship is for you.

NOTE: The Certificate in Entrepreneurship program has gone through major modifications to ensure that it focusses on the specific needs of contemporary entrepreneurs. This new program reflects new developments in the context and application of entrepreneurial practices. In addition, incorporating new material and modifying delivery approaches makes this program one of the best entrepreneurship programs in Canada.

How can a McGill Program prepare you for a career in Entrepreneurship?

- You will be exposed to the fundamentals required by entrepreneurs to start and manage a sustainable new venture.
- You will learn how to demystify financial statements and use ratios.
- You will learn managerial economics and accounting.
- You will learn how to prepare, manage and present a business plan; structure the business and seek funding.
- You will acquire the sales skills all entrepreneurs need in order to identify and grow a customer base.
- You will be taught the fundamental approaches for going international with your business.
• You will gain invaluable information from the expertise of some of Canada’s best entrepreneurs.

• You will learn about the legal system and basic legal principles affecting businesses.

• You will learn how to negotiate win-win business arrangements

• You will learn fundamental theories and practices of communication and networking (internal and external) in the workplace.

• You will be exposed to the latest theories, pertinent case studies and practical entrepreneurship models of small business management.

Please note: This program is effective as of Fall 2013. If you were admitted prior to Fall 2013, please follow the study plan which you have been given.
The Program

The Certificate in Entrepreneurship is a 30-credit undergraduate-level program that consists of 1 three-credit co-requisite course, 9 three-credit required courses and 1 three-credit complementary course.
