Figuring out February

February can be a tough month.

The cold continues, and all the projects and papers seems to start being due one after the other, but NOT TO FEAR:

After this month there is a bit of BREAK !
Reading Week 2018 is from March 5 to March 9.

To stay on top of things this month...

- Check your immigration documents for expiration dates to renew them in time.
- If you need to speak with an ISS advisor, our drop-in hours are posted online.
- Student at Mac Campus? An ISS advisor will be present every second Friday! See the schedule here
- Thinking about staying in Canada after you graduate? View the Permanent Residence info session schedule here, and plan on attending a Post-Graduation Work Permit webinar later in the term.
- Follow Healthy McGill on Facebook for great tips and trick to help you take care of yourself.

Best wishes,
The Team at International Student Services

International Students: What's your Vision?

Café Collab invites International students and student groups to a community visioning session from 3-6pm on February 27th in the Lev Buckman Room in SSMU (room 203, 3600 McTavish). Connect with other students and student groups, share experiences, identify ideas, and contribute to McGill's strategic planning around supporting the success of International students on campus. This is also an opportunity to contribute ideas for an event series being planned for 2019 to highlight the contributions of International Students to campus life.

Throughout the session, the group will create a collective video documenting people's ideas, feedback, and experiences to be used for a follow-up discussion on March 14th.

Free food and refreshments will be served and free childcare is available with 48 hours notice.
