Current Topics Seminar Attendance Form
McGill Department of Microbiology and Immunology

Graduate students in Microbiology and Immunology registered in the "Current Topics" courses (MIMM 613, 614, 615) are required to attend ten scientific seminars each term. Students must attend a minimum of two seminars from the Infection and Immunity Seminar Series offered by the Department. Students are permitted to attend a maximum of eight external seminars, which may be any life sciences-related seminars held at McGill University or its affiliated centres (MUHC, LDI, IRCM) presented by principal investigators. Students are required to confirm attendance at these seminars by having this form (or the seminar's poster) signed by the professor hosting the seminar. The form should be submitted electronically to the Course Coordinator within 1 week of the seminar attendance.

Name of student: ____________________________ ID: _______________________

Speaker: __________________________________________

Title of seminar: ______________________________________

Date of seminar: ________________ Time of seminar: _______________________

Location: __________________________________________

Hosting Department: __________________________________

Name of hosting professor: ________________________________

Hosting professor: ____________________________________
Signature __________________________ Date _________________________

Student: ____________________________________________
Signature __________________________ Date _________________________

By signing this statement the student attests that he/she attended the seminar described here.