Course content: This is a professional elective course for Master's year one Occupational Therapy students. It is designed to address the complexity of the Occupational Therapy assessment and interventions with the older client, examine the various causes of Occupational Performance dysfunction, examine the structure and organization of geriatric health care delivery and the unique role of Occupational Therapists in this context. Students in this course will utilize a client-centered and evidence-based approach to the evaluation and treatment of the older adult in different clinical scenarios. The course will be in a lecture/seminar. The instructors will use lectures, readings, discussions, presentations, critiques, and fieldtrips.

Course Materials: Each class will have a designated list of readings and class notes. The class notes and reading list will be posted on My Courses.

Instructional Methods: This course will include readings, reading guides, lectures, clinical cases and vignettes, small group discussions and site visits. Students are expected to find literature in a self-directed manner in order to complement their understanding of the various issues covered in class if deemed necessary. The learning outcome in this advanced elective is highly dependent upon student participation and contribution.

Student assignments and evaluation:
The following assignments will be used to evaluate learning.

- In class participation
- Reflective journal
- Critical appraisal and in class assignments
- Site visit
- Project

A detailed description of these will be provided on My Courses and further explained during the first class.

Participation will be evaluated by the instructor and involves active participation and quality contribution to the class and to the development of the course. Remember that participation is not based on quantity but rather on quality of contribution.

All group work will be monitored carefully and any evidence of inequitable contribution of team members to the assignments will be evaluated accordingly. All assignments must be produced with word processor, follow APA guidelines and not surpass the length determined by the instructors.

Any requests for extensions or delays in submitting assignments must be accompanied by a medical certificate.

 You may complete assignments in either of the 2 official languages however alternating between French and English within an assignment is not acceptable.

 Lateness in submitting assignments will result in a 1-mark deduction per day

 Passing the course is contingent upon submission of all assignments.
Online Course Evaluations: Students are strongly encouraged to complete the online course evaluations at the end of the term. Data obtained from these evaluations are used to provide instructors with feedback as well as for identifying situations where a course or instructor needs assistance. The feedback and suggestions contained in the responses are highly valued and helpful in ensuring that instructors make appropriate changes to courses as needed in order to facilitate student learning.

Copyright of course material: “Instructor generated course materials (e.g., handouts, notes, summaries, exam questions, etc.) are protected by law and may not be copied or distributed in any form or in any medium without explicit permission of the instructor. Note that infringements of copyright can be subject to follow up by the University under the Code of Student Conduct and Disciplinary Procedures”.

Plagiarism/Academic Integrity: “McGill University values academic integrity. Therefore, all students must understand the meaning and consequences of cheating, plagiarism and other academic offences under the Code of Student Conduct and Disciplinary Procedures”. (see www.mcgill.ca/students/srr/honest/ for more information).

Attendance: Attendance to classes is mandatory. It is the responsibility of each student to attend classes prepared and be actively involved. Although attendance will not be taken, the materials covered in class will be subject to evaluation. It is common professional courtesy to attend classes scheduled in health care institutions.

Right to submit in English or French written work that is to be graded: In accord with McGill University’s Charter of Students’ Rights, students in this course have the right to submit in English or in French any written work that is to be graded.

Consequences of not completing assignments as requested: Assignments not competed on time will be penalized accordingly. In the event that an assignment cannot be submitted on its due date, students must inform the instructor as soon as possible.

Disability: If you have a disability you may register with the Office for Students with Disabilities at 514 398-6009. You are also welcome to contact the instructor to arrange a time to discuss your situation.
Professional Conduct: Professionalism and accountability are expected throughout the course of the semester. This includes the on-going respectful nature of teacher-student as well as student-student interactions.

Technology in Class: Your respectful attentive presence is expected, therefore while you are permitted to use your laptop in class, it is understood that you will not be using your laptop or cell-phone for social purposes during class time (e.g. email, msn, sms). Your cell phone should be on silence during class time and phone calls should only take place during the break or after class.

Dress Code: Professionalism with respect to dressing is encouraged throughout the course of the semester especially while on site visits.

In the event of extraordinary circumstances beyond the University’s control, the content and/or evaluation scheme in this course is subject to change
