UPCOMING EVENTS

Safer Spaces Workshop: Aboriginal Perspectives

March 11, 2:00pm-4:30pm

This workshop examines issues related to the inclusion of Aboriginal peoples on our campuses. It provides historical and contemporary information about laws and policies, demographics, and cultural and economic realities. Participants will have the opportunity to apply new ideas and build skills by working through practical scenarios.

Safer Spaces Workshop: Race & Cultural Identity

March 20, 9:30am-12:00pm

This workshop addresses the challenges of fostering diversity-receptive cultural attitudes, reducing structural barriers in university life, and building and maintaining respectful spaces for interpersonal engagement. Through case studies, participants will have the chance to practice identifying and responding to the types of discrimination most commonly encountered in campus life.

Workshop: The Research Paper: Engaging Students with the Writing Process

April 3, 9:30am-12:00pm

The research (term) paper is a core assignment at McGill, allowing students to reflect on meaningful questions and develop their own scholarly voices. In this workshop, we will explore how to design assignments that engage students and encourage them to develop their critical thinking skills.

Grading Written Assignments: How Objective Can It Be?

April 23, 9:00am-12:00pm

How can instructors grade longer assignments effectively? This workshop will help participants identify, articulate, and communicate their own standards and criteria with the aim of promoting fair and efficient grading. Most importantly, it will demonstrate how clearly stated criteria can encourage self-assessment and increase learning for all students.

Recognizing and Supporting Students At-Risk

April 28, 1:00pm-3:00pm

In this workshop, McGill counselors and clinicians will present information to help you identify evidence of mental health problems, and to decide when to refer a student. We will consider strategies for effective boundary setting and discuss the resulting mutual benefits for supervisors and supervisees.
